REPORT of the Principal Administrators for the last Year

Roche's Rock Lighthouse.—The two light-houses on these rocks, hitherto coloured white, have been altered as appearance, each tower now showing a broad red belt or zone painted thereon.

Armagh Harbour Light.—The revolving white light, hitherto shown from the East Pier, has been altered to a revolving light showing red and white once alternately at shorter intervals. A small fixed red light is also exhibited from the West Pier head.

The Arklow Rock Light.—The old lantern of this lighthouse has been removed, and a new and improved one, with Argand burners, is now placed in its room, exhibiting a much more brilliant light than before.

Dublin Office, Dublin, March 1842.

J. Smith, Clerk Check and Book-keeper.

S. Foster, Secretary.
